

**Important** Clearing out your EBSCO cookie for renewing DKC / TexShare Members

As you are probably aware, your site uses cookie authentication to access EBSCOhost. Cookie authentication tells EBSCOhost to write a cookie so that users do not have to key in authentication information every time they log in. Recently, some changes in your subscription require that you write a new cookie onto all machines that access EBSCOhost. In order to write the new cookie, the old EBSCO cookie must be deleted.

You can delete your EBSCO cookie by clicking on the following link:

<http://search.ebscohost.com/testauth.aspx>

Select the “Remove EBSCOhost Authentication Cookie” hyperlink.

Once this is completed, each machine should only require an initial login to install the new cookie. From that point on, your access should not prompt for authentication.

Please note** It is extremely important that you write your new cookie in order to properly track your account usage.
